

Taiping Greater China New Momentum Equity Fund

June 2020

(the Sub-Fund of Taiping Investment Fund)

(Data as of 29 May 2020)

Key features and Risks :

- The Fund seeks to invest in listed securities in the Greater China region (which includes listed securities in the PRC, the HKSAR and Macau. It may also invest in financial derivative instruments for hedging purposes only.
- Investing in a relatively concentrated geographical region may result in greater volatility than portfolios which comprise broad-based global investments.
- Investing in emerging markets may involve a greater risk of loss than investing in developed markets due to, among other factors, greater political, tax, economic, foreign exchange, liquidity and regulatory risks.
- Risks associated with investments in financial derivative instruments for hedging purposes include credit risk, liquidity risk and counterparty credit risk.
- Risks and uncertainties associated with changes in current PRC tax laws, regulations and practice (that may have retrospective effect).
- Investing in securities denominated in a wide range of currencies other than HK Dollars may be exposed to a foreign exchange/currency risk.
- Risk associated with investment in A Shares via the Stock Connect may involve additional risks. Please refer to the Explanatory Memorandum of the Fund for further information relating to the Stock Connect. Further, the investments through Northbound trading under the Stock Connect will not be covered by Hong Kong's Investor Compensation Fund.
- An investment in the Fund may involve a high degree of risk and may not be suitable for all investors.
- Past performance is not indicative of future results. The value of the Units in the Fund and the income accruing to the Fund, if any, may fall or rise. Investors may not get back the full amount invested.

Fund Manager's Report
Market Review

The benchmark MSCI Zhonghua Index retreated by 2.3% in May. The fund's NAV decreased by 2.0%, outperformed the benchmark index by 0.3% in May. The fund's NAV retreated by 10.6% year to date, which underperformed the benchmark index by 2.0%. Mainly affected by Sino-US trade tensions and the gradual improvement of epidemics in overseas countries, the global stock market fluctuated in May. In Hong Kong dollars, the Hang Seng Index and the CSI 300 Index fell by 6.8% and 2.2% respectively, while the S&P 500 Index rose by 4.5%. At sector level of MSCI Zhonghua Index, Consumer Discretionary, Health Care, Consumer Staple and Information Technology obtained positive returns, while the other sectors recorded negative returns, with Real Estate, Finance and Utilities dropped the most.

Market Outlook

With the improvement of the COVID-19 epidemics situation in Europe & US, the panic in the global financial market has been greatly alleviated. As manufacturing and service industries have resumed normal production in Mainland China, China's economy has returned to growth track. Some Chinese companies have begun to buy back stocks, showing confidence in their business and stock prices. The outbreak of the coronavirus will not change the long-term growth trend of China's economy. After a short term impact, the Chinese economy is now returning to the growth track. We will continue to adjust and optimize the fund's exposure by adhering to value investment. We will maintain major positions on quality stocks and high-yield plays. We will focus on investment opportunities in Consumer Discretionary, Consumer Staples, Internet and China Banking sectors, and pay attention to the trading opportunities in other sectors.
