

Taiping Greater China New Momentum Equity Fund

November 2020

(the Sub-Fund of Taiping Investment Fund)

(Data as of 30 October 2020)

Key features and Risks :

- The Fund seeks to invest in listed securities in the Greater China region (which includes listed securities in the PRC, the HKSAR and Macau. It may also invest in financial derivative instruments for hedging purposes only.
- Investing in a relatively concentrated geographical region may result in greater volatility than portfolios which comprise broad-based global investments.
- Investing in emerging markets may involve a greater risk of loss than investing in developed markets due to, among other factors, greater political, tax, economic, foreign exchange, liquidity and regulatory risks.
- Risks associated with investments in financial derivative instruments for hedging purposes include credit risk, liquidity risk and counterparty credit risk.
- Risks and uncertainties associated with changes in current PRC tax laws, regulations and practice (that may have retrospective effect).
- Investing in securities denominated in a wide range of currencies other than HK Dollars may be exposed to a foreign exchange/currency risk.
- Risk associated with investment in A Shares via the Stock Connect may involve additional risks. Please refer to the Explanatory Memorandum of the Fund for further information relating to the Stock Connect. Further, the investments through Northbound trading under the Stock Connect will not be covered by Hong Kong's Investor Compensation Fund.
- An investment in the Fund may involve a high degree of risk and may not be suitable for all investors.
- Past performance is not indicative of future results. The value of the Units in the Fund and the income accruing to the Fund, if any, may fall or rise. Investors may not get back the full amount invested.

Fund Manager's Report
Market Review

The benchmark MSCI Zhonghua Index rebounded by 4.4% in Oct and the fund's NAV went up by 3.2% which underperformed the benchmark index by 1.2%. The fund's NAV increased by 2.7% year to date, which underperformed the benchmark index by 11.2%.

Affected by the continued economic recovery in Mainland China, the uncertainties of the US elections and the postponement of US fiscal stimulus, major stock indexes performed mixed in October. In Hong Kong dollars, Hang Seng Index, CSI 300 Index rose by 2.8% and 3.9% respectively, while S&P 500 Index declined by 2.7%. At sector level of MSCI Zhonghua Index, except for Real Estate and Energy, all other sectors recorded positive returns. Among them, Communication Services, Consumer Discretionary, Information Technology, and Banks significantly outperformed the benchmark.

Market Outlook

US fiscal and monetary policies are expected to remain stable after the US election, the reduced market uncertainties and rising risk appetite would drive market to rebound. In addition, the promising progress of BioNTech and Pfizer's COVID-19 vaccine is also conducive to overseas epidemic control and future global economic recovery. We are cautiously optimistic about the market outlook in medium term and expect the market to rebound amidst volatilities. We have recently noticed that funds are flowing from growth sectors such as Internet sector and Hi-tech sectors to traditional economy and cyclical sectors with low valuations and YTD underperformance. We will continue to adjust and optimize the portfolio structure and adhere to value investment. We will maintain our positions in quality stocks and growth stocks. In short to medium term, we will focus on investment opportunities in the Financials, Cyclical, Industrials, and Consumer Sectors, and pay attention to the trading opportunities in other sectors.
