What is this product?

The Fund is a sub-fund of Taiping Investment Fund which is an umbrella unit trust governed by the laws of Hong Kong.

Objective and Investment Strategy

Objective

The Fund seeks to provide investors with medium to long term capital appreciation over time.

Strategy

The Manager intends to make investments (at least 70% of the Fund's non-cash assets) through a portfolio consisting of listed securities (which may include (but are not limited to) A Shares, B Shares, shares listed on the Hong Kong Stock Exchange (including H Shares, Red Chips and other HK shares quoted in Hong Kong Dollar), and other China related stocks[#]) of companies that derive or are expected to derive a significant portion of their revenues from goods produced or sold, investments made or services performed in Greater China (which includes the PRC, the Special Administrative Regions of Hong Kong and Macau), in particular the listed securities of companies in Hong Kong that are expected to achieve stable and high dividend returns. The Manager believes that the value of these companies should increase through their participation in the economic growth of the Greater China region. The Fund may invest up to 20% of its non-cash assets in A Shares via the Shanghai-Hong Kong Stock Connect.

The Fund may also invest less than 30% of its non-cash assets in listed equity securities of companies which may have no connection with the Greater China region. Such equity securities are listed on exchanges worldwide including but not limited to the United States.

The Fund will be managed based on a value-oriented investment strategy, which means that the Manager will invest in assets which are considered to be undervalued, compared to their intrinsic value. The Fund will have no particular focus on market capitalisation, industry or sector.

The investment portfolio of the Fund may include listed equity securities of companies described above. In addition, the Sub-Fund may invest in these companies through Global Depository Receipts, American Depository Receipts, Chinese Depository Receipts, equity linked notes, or indirectly through other derivative instruments or may invest in derivative instruments for hedging purposes only.

The Manager currently does not intend to enter into any securities lending or repurchase / reverse repurchase transactions or other similar over-the-counter transactions in respect of the Fund.

[#] "other China related stocks" refer to the shares of companies which are not domiciled in Greater China, but have direct and significant operations in Greater China.

What are the key risks?

Investment involves risks. Please refer to the Explanatory Memorandum for details including the risk factors.

1. General investment risk

- The Fund's investment portfolio may fall in value due to any of the key risk factors below and therefore your investment in the Fund may suffer losses. There is no guarantee of the repayment of principal.

2. Concentration risk

- The concentration of the Fund's investments in the PRC, Hong Kong and Macau may result in greater volatility than portfolios which comprise broad-based global investments, which may adversely affect the Fund.

3. Emerging markets risk

- Investing in emerging markets may involve increased risks and special considerations not typically associated with investment in more developed markets, such as liquidity risks, currency risks/control, political and economic uncertainties, legal and taxation risks, settlement risks, custody risk and the likelihood of a high degree of volatility.

4. China market risk

- Investing in the securities markets in the PRC is subject to the risks of investing in emerging markets generally and the risks specific to the China market in particular.
- The choice of B Shares available to the Manager will be severely limited as compared with the choice available in other markets. There is a low level of liquidity in the B Share markets in the PRC, which could lead to severe price volatility.
- Both the Shanghai and Shenzhen securities markets are in the process of development and change. This may lead to trading volatility, difficulty in the settlement and recording of transactions and difficulty in interpreting and applying the relevant regulations.
- Investments in the PRC will be sensitive to any significant change in political, social or economic policy in the PRC. Such sensitivity may, for the reasons specified above, adversely affect the capital growth and thus the performance of these investments.
- The PRC government's control of currency conversion and future movements in exchange rates may adversely affect the operations and financial results of the companies invested in by the Fund.

5. PRC tax risk

- There are risks and uncertainties associated with the current PRC tax laws, regulations and practice (which may have retrospective effect). Any increased tax liabilities on the Fund may adversely affect the Fund's value.
- Based on professional and independent tax advice, the Fund will withhold 10% for tax provisions on any gross realized and unrealized gains (including capital gains) derived from investment in B Shares.
- Any shortfall between the provision and the actual tax liabilities, which will be debited from the Fund's assets, will adversely affect the Fund's net asset value. The actual tax liabilities may be lower than the tax provision made. Depending on the timing of their subscriptions and/or redemptions, investors may be disadvantaged as a result of any shortfall of tax provision and will not have the right to claim any part of the overprovision (as the case may be).

6. Equity investment risk

- The Fund's investment in equity securities is subject to general market risks, whose value may fluctuate due to various factors, such as changes in investment sentiment, political and economic conditions and issuer-specific factors.

7. Derivatives risk

- The Fund may also be exposed to risk connected with investments in financial derivative instruments for hedging purposes (i.e. counterparty/credit risk, liquidity risk, valuation risk, volatility risk and over-the-counter transaction risk). The leverage element/component of a financial derivative instrument can result in a loss significantly greater than the amount invested in the financial derivative instrument by the Fund. Exposure to financial derivative instruments may lead to a high risk of significant loss by the Fund.

8. Foreign exchange/currency risk

- The underlying investments of the Fund may be denominated in currencies other than HK Dollars. The net asset value of the Fund may be affected unfavorably by fluctuations in the exchange rates between these currencies and HK Dollars and by changes in exchange rate controls. It may not be possible or practicable to hedge against the consequent foreign exchange/currency risk exposure. As a result, the Fund may suffer losses.

How has the Fund performed?

- Past performance information is not indicative of future performance. Investors may not get back the full amount invested.
- The computation basis of the performance is based on the calendar year end, NAV-To-NAV, with dividend reinvested.
- These figures show by how much the Fund increased or decreased in value during the calendar year being shown. Performance data has been calculated in HKD including ongoing charges and excluding subscription fee and redemption fee you might have to pay (if any).
- Where no past performance is shown there was insufficient data available in that year to provide performance.
- Fund launch date: 2009
- Current class (formerly named Class B) launch date: 15 December 2014.
